Torrance is known for its quaint residential neighborhoods and light high-tech industry. Located in the South Bay region of Los Angeles County, Torrance has 1.5 miles (2.4 km) of beaches on the Pacific Ocean. It is immediately bordered by Lomita to the east, Gardena and Lawndale to the north, Redondo Beach and the Pacific Ocean to the west, and Rolling Hills and Palos Verdes Estates to the south.

Since its incorporation in 1921, Torrance has grown in population to 143,912 (2020). The city consistently ranks one of the safest cities in Los Angeles County. As of 2014 the City of Torrance has the second largest concentration of ethnic Japanese people of any U.S. city, after Honolulu. The city is home to headquarters of Japanese automakers and offices of other Japanese companies. Japanese schools, banks, grocery outlets, and restaurants fill the area to service its residents and neighbors.
