A HUB FOR MAKING

Building 12 is a platform for creative thinkers. The raw, industrial facade and soaring ceilings that once housed the fabrication of steel hulls for ships will now promote a creative spirit across new industries.

DESIGNED TO FACILITATE MAKERS' INTERACTION WITH THE PUBLIC AND EACH OTHER, BUILDING 12 OFFERS A MAGNETIC SPACE TO SHOWCASE THE PROCESS OF MAKING GOODS.

A PLATFORM FOR A DIVERSE, CREATIVE COLLECTION OF ARTISTS & MAKERS

Its scale and interior volume is unlike any other project in San Francisco, with space designed for makers and light manufacturing. Developed with a clear vision to support a thriving creative ecosystem, Building 12 is the cornerstone of the entire Pier 70 project.

Housing an eclectic mix of accessible maker spaces and local artisan retail, Building 12 is a springboard for a vibrant creative ecosystem. This engaging environment offers opportunity to showcase the process of making your goods, as well as to put them on display.

Built around a hub of maker spaces in Building 12 and a new waterfront cultural arts center, events programming throughout the site will offer cultural experiences that inspire.
