GENERAL DESCRIPTION

The site comprises a level parcel of land surfaced in concrete hardstanding and currently being used as a car wash. The site is level and has dual access points and benefits from approximately 163 feet of roadside frontage to the A52, one of the principal roads leading into Hanley city centre.

LOCATION

The site is very prominently located on Bucknall Road (A52) in an area largely given over to commercial activity and within 200 yards of the junction with Leek Road (A5009) and Bucknall New Road (A5008). Hanley city centre is approximately 1 mile to the west and the A52 and A5008 form one of the principal routes into the city.

The site can be accessed from both directions, which makes it particularly desirable from a redevelopment perspective.
