The Crossing at Marina Bay, Richmond

Marina Bay is a charming coastal region offering suburban tranquility paired with urban accessibility. Marina Bay, also known as the Richmond Riviera, sits in Richmond's protected Inner Harbor, where residents enjoy boating, fishing, and walking along the scenic Marina Bay Trail. Marina Bay is within minutes of the shops, artisan eateries and cafes, live theater, and farmers market in the quaint downtown area of neighboring Point Richmond. Area attractions such as Rosie the Riveter/WWII Home Front National Historical Park, Point Isabel Regional Shoreline, and Golden Gate Fields are all just a short drive away from Marina Bay as well.

The business and industrial community in Richmond is a vibrant hub known for its strategic location and accessibility. Situated in the East Bay region of the San Francisco Bay Area, Richmond is approximately 16 miles northeast of San Francisco and 10 miles northwest of Oakland, making it ideally positioned for businesses requiring proximity to major metropolitan areas. The city benefits from excellent transportation infrastructure, including easy access to major freeways such as Interstate 80 and Interstate 580, bridges, and ferry services.
