DESIGNED FOR PEOPLE

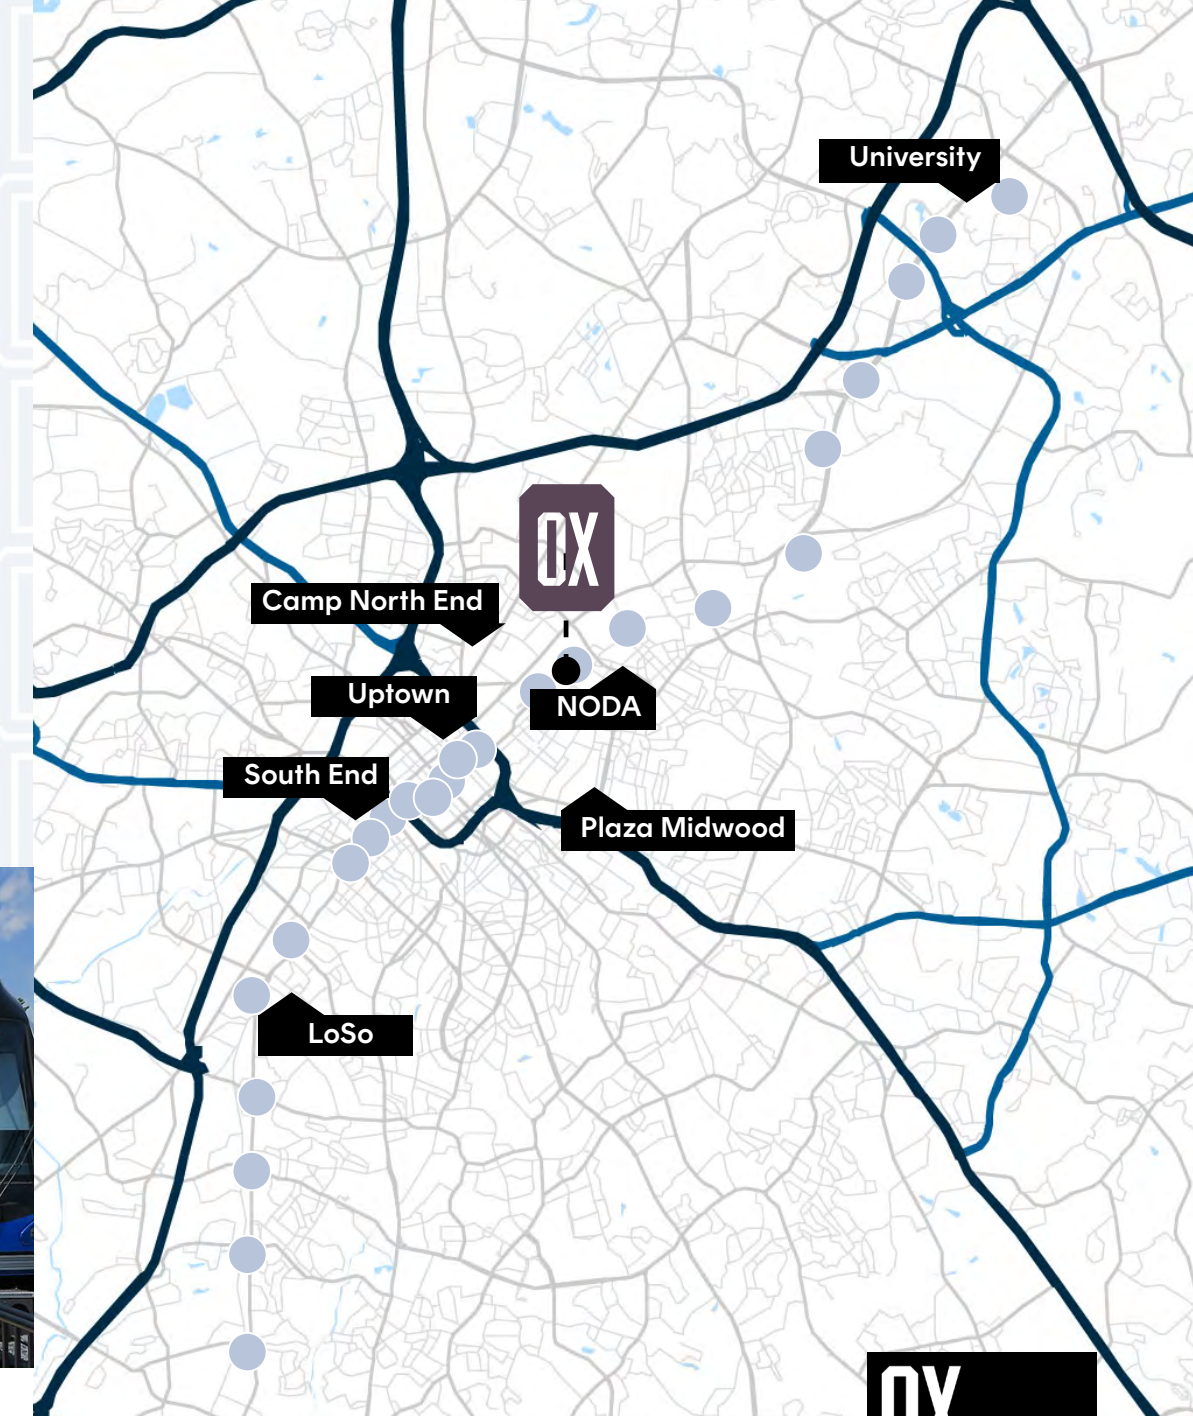

Oxbow offers one of Charlotte's most walkable and connected locations, ideal for both residents and business owners. Located in NoDa arts district, it's surrounded by restaurants, breweries, coffee shops, and galleries that draw steady foot traffic. Just a block away from the LYNX Blue Line and directly connected to the Charlotte Cross Trail, it gives people easy access to explore the city by foot or bike.

For business owners, this visibility and accessibility are key advantages. The combination of trail users, light rail commuters, and NoDa's lively local crowd creates a constant flow of potential customers, making Oxbow a prime spot to grow a business in one of Charlotte's most energetic neighborhoods.

THE LIGHT RAIL: CONNECTED

The blue line light rail is reworking Charlotte's urban fabric. Fast, efficient, and affordable, the light rail is making it easy for Charlotteans to traverse the urban core without a car. The blue line specifically connects Charlotte's busiest neighborhoods and streets: South End, Uptown, and NoDa. It's easy to imagine folks from LoSo all the way up to UNCC hopping on the light rail to explore the shops and restaurants that will soon define Oxbow.

THE OPTIMIST PARK/ NODA NEIGHBORHOOD

Just a few minutes north of the city center by car or light rail, you'll find Charlotte's arts and entertainment district, NoDa (so named for its main drag, North Davidson Street). Once home to turn-of-the-century textile mills, brightly-colored murals, local art galleries, performance venues, restaurants, coffee shops, bars and breweries await in this hipster haven.
