Following a comprehensive refurbishment, the Oozells Building has been transformed, inside and out, to create a modern working environment that offers 36,000 sq ft of Grade A space.

While the new entrance and enhanced reception space provides an outstanding arrival experience for occupiers and visitors alike.

Externally, two roof terraces – one accessed from Oozells Square, the other for use by occupiers of the fourth floor suite – have been enhanced to provide secluded and peaceful outdoor space.

Inspired by Birmingham's musical heritage, the Green Room provides alternative meeting and break-out space on the ground floor, creating a relaxed environment for visitors and tenants.

The vacant floors in the Oozells Building have been fully refurbished to Grade A quality.

Exposed services take advantage of the impressive floor-to-ceiling height, and a new air conditioning system offers improved occupational densities.

The enhanced floorplates of up to 13,673 sq ft offer clean, flexible space that benefit from significant levels of natural light, as well as views across the City Centre and Brindleyplace.

Tenants looking for more space also have the option to connect the third and fourth floors via a dedicated staircase.

Brindleyplace continues to evolve and attract inward investment. Currently home to local, national and global brands, over 10,000 employees work on the estate.

Brindleyplace comes to life with crowds attracted to a full calendar of events throughout the year.

Things get spicy over the summer at the annual Chilli Festival, businesses battle it out along the canal at the Dragonboat Race as part of the Brindleyplace Family Festival, and, whatever the weather, the annual Film Festival is always a hit.

VENUES

The only city outside London to have a Harvey Nichols, Selfridges and John Lewis store – all of which are within easy walking distance of Brindleyplace – it's no wonder Birmingham has been rated one of the top three most visited places for shopping in the UK.

As well as four Michelin-star restaurants, more than any other city outside London, Birmingham has seen a significant number of new bars and restaurants opening over the last few years, including El Borracho and Laghi's Deli in nearby Edgbaston as well as high-profile addition The Ivy.
